A Circle Story

Lisa had one book she cherished more than any other. It was called A Horse Called Lucky . One day at school, students in Lisa's class were asked to read aloud a report on one of their favorite books. Of course, Lisa gave her report on A Horse Called Lucky .	12 24 37 49
“I really liked your book report,” Miguel said. “Would you mind if I borrowed the book? I’d love to read it!”	59 70
Lisa smiled. “Sure. I’d be happy to lend it to you.”	81
Miguel saw slips of paper tucked into the book. “Lisa, what are these?” he asked.	93 96
Lisa laughed. “Those are notes I write each time I read the book. Because I don’t want to write in the book, I put my thoughts on paper slips instead.”	108 122 126
“What a great idea!” Miguel said.	132
A few days later, Lisa’s teacher announced, “Miguel’s father was transferred to another city. Miguel and his family had to move quickly!” Lisa worried that the book she so cherished was gone forever.	141 153 164 165
Years later, when Lisa was much older, a package arrived in the mail for her. It was Lisa’s old copy of A Horse Called Lucky! A letter was attached to it. It was from a girl who said the book had been in her family for many years. Her Grandpa Miguel had told her it really belonged to Lisa.	176 190 205 217 224
The book was stuffed with notes! It was twice as thick as before. Many people had read and enjoyed Lisa’s favorite book over the years. Finally, like a circle, the book had come back to Lisa to stay.	236 246 259 262
